

subtle signage to jetty entrance to briefly document the demolition of the old jetty and the construction of the new jetty ground based interpretation to half of the jetty deck. - interpretation to reference the historical train tracks and the Tanker Jetty's industrial past potential for the ground based interpretation to form part of the public art component circular viewing deck with lighting to retained timber piles potential to re-use the jetty timbers within the new steel structure, this continues the aesthetics of the waterfront development - if signage is required it can be located within this zone.

continuous strip lighting to jetty handrail to wash the concrete deck surface - provide subtle and safe lighting for night time users